APERGY CORPORATION
SUPPLEMENTAL FINANCIAL INFORMATION
FOR THE THREE MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 2018

In addition to financial results determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States (“GAAP”), Apergy Corporation (“Apergy,” “we” or “our”) utilizes certain financial measures that are “non-GAAP financial measures,” as defined in Item 10 of Regulation S-K of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Numerical reconciliations of these non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable financial measures under GAAP are included herein. The presentation of these non-GAAP financial measures is not meant to be considered in isolation or as a substitute for financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. These non-GAAP financial measures have important limitations because they exclude some items that affect our income before income taxes, segment earnings, net cash provided by operating activities, or balance sheet line items. Additionally, because these non-GAAP financial measures may be defined differently by other companies in our industry, our definition of these non-GAAP financial measures may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies, potentially diminishing their utility.

Adjusted EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA margin

Adjusted EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA margin are non-GAAP financial measures and do not purport to be alternatives to income before income taxes as determined in accordance with GAAP as a measure of operating performance. We believe these measures are useful to investors and other users of our financial information in evaluating ongoing operating profitability as they exclude depreciation and amortization expense primarily related to capital expenditures and acquisitions made in prior years, restructuring and other charges primarily related to exit costs and employee termination benefits, interest expense and royalty expense that will not be incurred after our separation from Dover Corporation. These measures are also useful in evaluating operating performance in relation to our peers.

Adjusted segment EBITDA and adjusted segment EBITDA margin

Adjusted segment EBITDA and adjusted segment EBITDA margin are non-GAAP financial measures and do not purport to be alternatives to segment earnings as we have determined in accordance with GAAP as a measure of operating performance. We believe these measures are useful to investors and other users of our financial information in evaluating ongoing operating profitability as they exclude depreciation and amortization expense primarily related to capital expenditures and acquisitions made in prior years, restructuring and other charges primarily related to exit costs and employee termination benefits and royalty expense that will not be incurred after our separation from Dover Corporation. These measures are also useful in evaluating operating performance in relation to our peers.

Adjusted working capital

Adjusted working capital is a non-GAAP financial measure and does not purport to be an alternative to working capital as determined in accordance with GAAP. We defined adjusted working capital as accounts receivable, plus inventory, less accounts payable. We believe adjusted working capital provides a meaningful measure of our operational results by showing changes caused by revenue or our operational initiatives.

Adjusted free cash flow

Adjusted free cash flow is a non-GAAP financial measure and does not purport to be an alternative to net cash provided by operating activities as determined in accordance with GAAP. We define adjusted free cash flow as net cash provided by operating activities minus capital expenditures plus the change in income taxes payable computed under the stand-alone return basis, which is classified within “net parent investment in Apergy” on our condensed combined balance sheets and included in financing activities on our condensed combined statements of cash flows. The change in income taxes payable classified within financing activities is included in the adjusted free cash flow calculation to be more representative of the tax cash flows for a stand-alone company. Actual stand-alone tax cash flows may differ from those in historical periods. We believe adjusted free cash flow is an important measure of liquidity because it provides management and investors a measurement of cash generated from operations that is available for mandatory payment obligations and investment opportunities, such as funding acquisitions, paying dividends, repaying debt and repurchasing our common stock.
